Summary of reasons for decision:

The video explicitly depicts a young girl performing solo sexual activity for the camera. It is deemed objectionable because it promotes and supports the exploitation of children or young persons for sexual purposes. The video presents children as sexually active and aware and as appropriate subjects for adult sexual attention. It is clearly intended to be sexually arousing to people with a prurient interest in young girls. The video encourages and legitimises such an interest. As a video file it can be shared widely among like-minded individuals, which would result in ongoing exploitation of the girl. The video may also be used for grooming other children for sexual exploitation. The Classification Office has considered the effects of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 on the application of the classification criteria. The classification of this publication interferes with the right to freedom of expression, but this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention that publications that promote and support the exploitation of children for sexual purposes be deemed objectionable. The classification also reflects the concern of New Zealand society to protect its young and vulnerable members from exploitation and harm.
